THANK YOU!

DERL UPDATES

- 1) Lou Bortz will once again provide funds for DERL's RMAG "Outcrop" advertisement.
- 2) Please let your State House representative and Senator know your opinion on SB19-181.
- 3) The Library received numerous donations of Books and Publications in the latter part of 2018. If you are looking for that special publication, and at a ridiculously low price, please swing by our "For Sale Section."
- 4) The Library began its 2019 Interactive Lecture Series with a HUGE bang, as Dr. Michael Lewan discussed, "New Insights on the Origin of Petroleum Based on Hydrous Pyrolysis Experiments." Future lectures will concern a variety of topics, including "extracting more data from 3D seismic," "unconventional reservoirs," and Rock-Eval Pyrolysis results from a given formation (Bakken and others) compared with Hydrous Pyrolysis results of the same formation.
- 5) The DERL Board's Treasurer, Jessica Davey, has been updating the DERL LinkedIn page and would like help from each of our members on spreading the word that we're on LinkedIn. Since it's good (and free) advertising, we plan to put a concerted effort into maintaining the page. If you are not familiar with LinkedIn (I have avoided social media like the plague, but this is informational media), you will need to sign up, which is relatively straight-forward. Here is the link to the page: <https://www.linkedin.com/company/denverearthresourceslibrary>

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

The Library greatly appreciates all its members, and we would like to welcome:

- 1) Aeon Petroleum Consultants
- 2) HRM Resources III

Please keep in mind that the Library will be closed on:

Memorial Day, May 27th
